UNITED STATES AND DUTCH SEA-AIR FORCES CREDITED WITH GREAT VICTORY OVER JAPS IN MACASSAR STRAIT

Loss Inflicted on Enemy is Heaviest Since War's Start

BULLETIN
Washington, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Communications issued by the United Nations forces in Java, the Dutch at Batavia, and the United States here indicated that at least 33 Japanese ships have been sunk, probably sunk, or damaged in the high convoy in the Strait of Macassar since Friday.

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
Associated Press War Editor
United States and Dutch sea and air forces, locked in a great, running battle with a Japanese invasion armada in the Strait of Macassar, have sunk or damaged at least 27 transports and warships in the four days of fighting and may have shattered an attempt to invade Java, the heart of the United Nations defense in the southwest Pacific.

The next few days will tell in what strength if any the Japanese armada was able to negotiate the narrow shortcut to the inner arc of the Netherlands East Indies.

The Japanese, however, won at least one foothold on this sea road to Java—the Dutch oil port of Balikpapan, on the strait-side of the island of Borneo, but the size of the invasion fleet indicated that Tokyo was shooting for higher stakes to the south.

The Strait of Macassar is the most direct route between Japanese concentration points in the Philippines and the rich island of Java, on which the United Nations have centered their supreme command and much of their armed strength.

The score against the Japanese in the Macassar Strait battle, as thus far reported in the communications from the Java headquarters, Batavia and Washington, follows:

Destroyed: Nine transports, one destroyer.
Damaged: A warship, unclassified as to type, five cruisers, two destroyers, nine transports.

The damaged ships, hit by bombs or torpedoes, include at least five transports probably sunk and a cruiser which may have gone down. The submarine which torpedoed it was so resisted that it was impossible for its command to determine the result of the hit.

The battle started on Thursday afternoon when Dutch airmen, roaring out from their jungle-shielded bases, scored 12 direct hits on the Japanese armada.

Slight damage to one United States warship was the only naval damage acknowledged so far as the cost of the attack.

The losses inflicted on the Japanese were the heaviest of any counter-action since the Japanese launched their grand offensive in the southwest Pacific region on Dec. 7.

American flying fortresses, besides sinking a big Rising Sun transport, also scored a bomb hit on a Japanese ship.

Navy Asks Huge Sum Of $17,722,565,474

Washington, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Congress received today a $17,722,565,474 appropriations bill, largest in the nation's history, to finance navy's war objective of attaining unquestioned supremacy above, below and on the seas through a gigantic ship and plane building program.

In sending the huge outlay proposed to the house for debate, the appropriations committee described the superlative "stupendous" and "staggering"—to describe its aims but expressed full confidence in their accomplishments with unbelievable dispatch.

An accompanying 313-page transcript of testimony before the committee by Secretary of Navy Knox and high ranking naval officials disclosed their conviction that 1942 would prove the critical year in the battle for victory.

Flashes From Around the World

Bern, Switzerland, Jan. 26.—(AP)—United States officials here said today they were investigating reports that possibly 300 Americans had been interned in Campio Forest in occupied France by the Nazis to insure good treatment of German nationals in the United States.

Perth, Australia, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Prime Minister John Curtin said today in a nation-wide broadcast that Australia needed a full voice in shaping Pacific war strategy.

London, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The Exchange Telegraph, British news agency, head a German broadcast today citing unconfirmed reports from Batavia that the Australian port and naval harbor of Darwin was bombed this morning.

Berlin, Jan. 26.—(Official broadcast recorded by AP)—In a daylight raid, German bombers scored hits on hangars and among grounded aircraft at Halberstadt on the British island of Malta while their fighter escort shot down eight British fighters without losing a plane, the German high command reported today.

Rome, Jan. 26.—(Official broadcast recorded by AP)—The Italian high command said today that military objectives on Malta, British island base in the Mediterranean which has been repeatedly raided by Axis planes, were severely bombed again yesterday.

Berlin, Jan. 26.—(Official broadcast recorded by AP)—A German dispatch from Madrid today reported that the 5,473-ton Spanish freighter Navamal was sunk Saturday by a British submarine 150 miles west of Cape St. Vincent, Portugal, and that the entire crew of 36 was believed lost.

CIVILIANS REMOVED AT GUINEA

While Militia Fights Delaying Action, War Cabinet At Melbourne Orders Mobilization of Working and Fighting Manpower, With Men up to 60 Ordered to Register

COASTAL TOWN SAID TO BE UNDER AIR ATTACK

By the Associated Press
Melbourne, Australia, Jan. 26.—Civilians were removed today from cities in New Guinea and in the heart of the Solomon Islands as jungle-trained Australian militia battle invasion forces in the hills of New Britain and New Ireland, and the Japanese hurled new landing forces into the arc of islands protecting this continent.

The steadily-broadening operations covered a broken front extending almost 1,000 miles from northern New Guinea east to Florida Island.

While the militia fought a delaying action, the war cabinet ordered immediate full mobilization of working and fighting manpower. All men up to 60 years of age will be required to register. Enrolment of women is expected to follow.

With the Japanese gaining bases within striking distance of the mainland, bomb disposal squads were being formed in Australian cities and steps were taken to extend the present blackout to all coastal communities.

Army Minister Francis Forde announced that civilians were being taken from bombed Madang in northeastern New Guinea and Tulagi on Florida Island in the Solomons. Civilians were removed from the east coast of New Guinea during the weekend.

(There was no immediate indication whether the evacuation was prompted by fear of further bombings or indicated Australian preparation to stand off expected Japanese invasion.)

FINAL ACTION ON PRICE CURB BILL POSSIBLE TODAY

Washington, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Congressional leaders were optimistic of winning final action on price control legislation today after a strenuous six-months struggle.

Both houses ranged during the day to take up a conference report on the war-time price curbing bill, with administration House leaders confident that before tonight it would be in the hands of President Roosevelt.

The president first asked for such legislation last July 30. Leaders were faced, however, with a determined Republican move, led by Rep. Wolcott of Michigan, to shunt the much-modified bill back to a joint senate-house conference committee for an overhauling of some of its provisions.

Wolcott wanted to eliminate a senate-approved provision setting up a licensing system by which price control orders would be enforced on business. He also wanted retained a house-approved provision, thrown out by the conference, establishing a five-member board to review the proposed price administrator's orders.

Despite this maneuver, house leaders counted on approval of the conference report after three hours of debate—an approval which would send it to the senate where farm bloc members were expected to bemoan the elimination of some of the special provisions originally made to govern the prices fixed for farm products.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky predicted speedy approval of the measure, however, (Turn to Page Nine)

PLANT FIRE IN CANADA

Thetford Mines, Que. Jan. 26.—(AP)—Fire, followed by several explosions, broke out in a war industries plant here today and first reports said that three girls were killed. Police of this asbestos-mining town, 50 miles south of Quebec City, said others might be missing.

American Army Force Arrives In Ireland

Washington, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Arrival of American army forces in northern Ireland was announced today by Secretary of War Stimson.

Major General Russell P. Hartle is in command, it was announced, but the size of the force and other details were withheld.

Specifically withheld were designations of the units, their composition and strength, the ports of embarkation and the dates of sailing. The force was the first to reach the British Isles since the war started, aside from groups of technicians and staff officers, officials indicated.

CHINESE MASS FOR POSSIBLE ACTION IN THAI

Airmen of United Nations Dump Tons of Explosives on Enemy Bases at Bangkok and Hanoi During the Weekend

ADMITS WITHDRAWAL

Rangoon, Burma, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Airmen of the United Nations dumped tons of explosives on Japanese bases at Bangkok and Hanoi during the weekend while Chinese troops moved in to gain control of possible action against Japanese-occupied Thailand and French Indo-China.

While the Chinese army in Burma was said to be expanding into a major force and the Chinese also maneuvered large bodies of troops along the Thai and Indo-Chinese borders, the British announced an "unimpeded" withdrawal in the Moulmein section, 100 miles east of Rangoon.

The British said the Japanese were mown down during fighting in the Moulmein sector but continued to advance by "sheer weight of numbers."

The RAF flew at a low level in the face of strong anti-aircraft fire during the smash at Bangkok Saturday night, dropping 500-pound demolition bombs on a power house and other targets. Damage was reported widespread.

It was the second major attack on the Thailand capital this month. More than 70 bombers and fighters of the Chinese air force, with American volunteers presumably participating, made their second assault in three days of Hanoi, French Indo-China, one of Japan's main bases.

The air armada sprayed the Japanese air base with 200 bombs and left the field in flames, Chinese reports said.

The Chinese also reported a land victory over the Japanese. A Chungking communiqué said Chinese troops had captured a Japanese base.

MISSOURI TOWN HAS LYNCHING

Sikeston, Mo., Jan. 26.—(AP)—State police and deputy sheriffs patrolled this cotton milling community today as a precaution against mob violence after the Sabbath lynching of a negro suspected of attempting to rape a soldier's wife.

An infuriated mob dragged him through the negro district and burned the body. Negroes were instructed to remain indoors and guards were placed about the negro quarter to prevent whites from entering.

Assistant Police Chief Harold Wallace identified the prisoner as Cleo Wright, 30, and he admitted he stabbed and seriously wounded Mrs. Dillard Sturgeon, wife of an army sergeant, early Sunday morning. Sturgeon is stationed in California.

Wallace said Wright was shot three times by Patrolman Hester Perigian after he stabbed the officer in the face while being taken to jail in the city hall.

A crowd gathered and was persuaded to disperse. It soon reassembled and stormed the jail, overpowering the officers.

Axis Undersea Raider Attacks American Ore Carrier Venore Off North Carolina Coast; Twenty-Two Members of Crew are Unaccounted For

NORWEGIAN TANKER IS ALSO VICTIM OF U-BOAT

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 26.—(AP)—An Axis undersea raider attacked the American ore carrier Venore off the North Carolina coast last Friday and 22 members of the crew are unaccounted for, the Fifth Naval District announced today.

Twenty-one members of the crew were brought ashore at Norfolk last night.

The ship, owned by the Ore Steamship Company, was hit at least twice by torpedoes Friday and it sank in the Atlantic Saturday morning, the Navy said.

Washington, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The navy department announced today that the 8,016-ton ore carrier Venore was torpedoed twice and sunk off the Atlantic coast last Saturday morning.

The vessel, owned by the Ore Steamship Company of New York, was the sixth sunk and the seventh attacked, according to official announcement, by enemy submarines along Atlantic seaboard in the past two weeks. One ship of the seven attacked was only damaged.

No dead or missing were reported, apparently leaving the total of men lost in the submarine attacks reported to date at 75.

First word of the assault on the Venore came, the navy department flashed, when her radio operator relayed a distress call and the ship's position at 12:47 a. m. EST Saturday. The call for help (Turn to Page Five)

BOY IS HELD FOR BEATING AFTER FIRST ACQUITTAL

Media, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Jackie Leeds, mother, who is proud of her 15-year-old son for the way he had been a gentleman all through this ordeal, doesn't understand how the boy can be held for the beating of Miss Belle Geary, 80.

Young Leeds was acquitted late Saturday night of a murder charge in the fatal beating of Miss Geary's sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Watson, 83. The two aged women were attacked near their home last September. Miss Geary recovered.

While Jackie remained in Delaware county jail awaiting trial on a second indictment charging he beat Miss Geary, his mother, Mrs. Leeds said, the family's savings were used in the defense of the boy who escaped from Glen Mills reform school the day the elderly sisters were beaten. She added that Jackie's step-father had sold his garage business to help finance the defense.

The youth testified and three witnesses corroborated his statement that he was miles from the scene of the crime. He also admitted the beatings and as for 30 pennies for a dime. When they left she found missing a glass container with $25 for the march of dimes to fight infantile paralysis.

Callender, Ont., Jan. 25.—(AP)—An examination of Marie, smallest of the Dionne quintuplets, for suspected muscular atrophy of one leg disclosed "no serious lesion."

Keith Munro, business manager of the quintuplets, said last night. Munro said he was authorized by Dr. John Laine McDonald of Toronto to make the announcement. Dr. McDonald, appointed by Ontario province, government, and Dr. Roma Anyot of Montreal, called in by the Dionne family physician, Dr. I. Joval of North Bay, examined the girl.

Philadelphia, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Helen Crowther, restaurant cashier, has two candidates for the sneak category. She told detective John Friel two young men asked for 30 pennies for a dime. When they left she found missing a glass container with $25 for the march of dimes to fight infantile paralysis.

Demand for Punishment of Those Responsible for the Pearl Harbor Debacle Heard

Commission's Conclusions Point to Need for a Super-Command With Control Over Both Armed Services, Senators Say

WARNINGS IGNORED

Washington, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Angry demands came from congress members today for the expulsion of any "incompetents" holding responsible position in the war effort and for courts martial to mete out punishment on those responsible for the debacle of Pearl Harbor.

A furor of rare bitterness on both sides of Capitol Hill followed the week-end report of a presidential investigating commission, blaming non-cooperation and "dereliction of duty" by Hawaii area commanders of the army and navy for success of the Japanese sneak attack on the great Pacific naval base.

Many senators and representatives asserted that the commission's conclusions pointed to a pressing need for a super-command with control over the operations of both armed services.

Although the investigating commission decided that the secretaries of state, war and navy as well as the army chief of staff and chief of naval operations had "fulfilled their obligations," some congress members professed to find fault with provisions made here for Hawaii's defense.

The five-man commission, headed by Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts of the supreme court, reported to President Roosevelt that "errors of judgment" by Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short, commander of the army's Hawaiian department, and Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, commander of the Pacific fleet and commander in chief of the whole fleet, "were the effective causes for the success of the attack."

It concluded that the two officers had shown "a lack of appreciation of the responsibilities vested in them," especially since each had been warned by his superiors in Washington that relations with Japan were critical. Both were relieved of their commands soon after the attack.

No immediate word of contemplated action came from the White House, the army and navy departments. The departments could order court martial, or President Roosevelt could dismiss them from the service for "dereliction of duty." They could appeal to a court martial if the chief executive took that course.

The investigating commission found that 10½ months before the attack—on January 24, 1941—Secretary Knox suggested in a letter to Secretary Stimson that war with the Japanese might come and that the first move would be a "surprise attack upon the fleet or naval base at Pearl Harbor."

He even predicted, the commission said, that the methods in the attack—(Turn to Page Nine)

MINIMUM WAGE LAW IS UPHELD

Philadelphia, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The state supreme court upheld today the constitutionality of a state law giving the commonwealth power to fix minimum wages for women and persons under 21 in industry.

The act, passed in 1937 and commonly known as the minimum wage law, was challenged by the Mechanicsburg laundry, which contended that the legislation gave the secretary of labor and industry, "sole discretion on the matter of fixing the minimum wage."

Specifically the appeal was from a ruling by Lewis G. Hines, secretary of labor and industry, (Turn to Page Nine)

ATLANTIC CHARTER ENDORSED

Political Committee of Pan American Conference Adopts Proposal to Declare United States and All Allies Non Belligerent and Approve Principles of Allied War Aims

PROPOSE MEETING OF THE GENERAL STAFFS

By the Associated Press
Rio De Janeiro, Jan. 26.—The political committee of the Pan American conference adopted today a proposal to declare the United States and all her allies non belligerents, and approved the principles of the Atlantic Charter which embodied the war aims of the United States and Britain.

Action on both resolutions was unanimous. Also approved were resolutions calling for an immediate meeting of the general staffs of all American nations, and proposing that no American nation represent the interests of a warring government not on this continent in any other American nation.

This last resolution on representation of foreign interests was redrafted in sub-committee to get around objections by Argentina to its phrasing.

The proposal for a meeting of general staffs suggested that there should be formed at once a "commission composed of military or naval technicians named by each government to study and suggest measures necessary for defense of the continent." The commission would meet in Washington.

Thus the committee moved swiftly through its last business before the final general session of the conference tomorrow.

The approval by the 21 American nations of the principles of the Atlantic charter was expressed in a new "Charter of Rio De Janeiro" drawn up by the committee.

It was stated, however, that the (Turn to Page Nine)

Coordinated Defense Set-Up for Seaboard

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The entire eastern seaboard from Maine to Florida is being defended by coordinated land, sea and air forces ready to mesh into unified action within a matter of seconds.

Even as big guns and planes boomed and zoomed in maneuvers yesterday, establishment of "a closely coordinated defensive and offensive network system" was announced jointly by the army and navy.

The joint statement followed by a day report of President Roosevelt's special investigation committee which criticized lack of complete army-navy liaison at Hawaii as a cause of the Pearl Harbor disaster Dec. 7.

Jointly directing the coordinated services are Lieutenant General Hugh A. Drum, commanding general of the eastern army forces; Rear Admiral Adolphus Andrews, commander of the North Atlantic naval coastal frontier, and Brigadier General Arnold N. Krogstad, commanding the first air force.

"Alphabet Politics" Crop Up Again As Democrats Jockey For Strength

BY TOM REEDY
Harrisburg, Jan. 26.—(AP)—"Alphabet politics" is making its appearance again among Pennsylvania Democrats with a gubernatorial campaign just around the corner.

How the alphabet figures in the preliminary jockeying of a political campaign may be demonstrated when the Democratic state committee meets toward the end of February.

The committee was to decide whether there shall be an "open" primary in May as urged by U. S. Senator Joseph F. Gurnea or whether it shall "recommend" a slate of candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs. One faction of the party, headed by National Committeeman David L. Lawrence, is in favor of continuing the recommendation idea.

The decision would be reached by a roll call vote.

When that vote is taken, the roll is called alphabetically by counties—Adams, Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Bedford, Berks, etc.

Hence, a quiet drive has been started by leaders to line up votes of those counties called first. The idea is to set the stage for an early surge of sentiment that would prompt other counties at the rear of the list to do a certain amount of jumping on the bandwagon when they see how the trend develops.

Both factions—the bloc in favor of a committee endorsed slate and the one against it—have not ignored the possibilities of the situation.

Despite the fact that tank wagon prices of gasoline were boosted three-cents a gallon last week, as a result of action by the Office of Price Administration in Washington, the retail price of the fuel remained at 17 cents at local service stations today.

Approval of a top price of 19.3 cents per gallon was given for Pennsylvania and other eastern states last Friday by the OPA.

Most local dealers had been selling gasoline for 19 cents up to a short time ago when a two-cent reduction was announced. An effort on the part of some stations to have the price boosted Saturday proved of no avail and motorists were still getting advantage of the situation today.

It is expected that the increase to the top price of 19.3 cents will be placed in effect here soon, one dealer said this morning. Just when this might be, however, was uncertain.

With the decreased sale of gasoline due in part to tire rationing, and the decreased profits because of the present low prices in Warren, it is going to be a case of "survival of the fittest" among local service stations, one dealer said today.

PLEASING TIME IS ENJOYED BY LOCAL KNIGHTS

Members of Warren Council, Knights of Columbus, and their ladies enjoyed a supper and social hour at the organization's last evening, which was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

After the appetizing supper a brief session was enjoyed. This part of the entertainment was in the capable hands of Father E. J. Jacobs, of Tidoute, formerly of St. Joseph's parish, who acted as toastmaster. The witty remarks and jokes of Father Jacobs proved that as after dinner speaker he was all that could be expected and he kept those present in laughter most of the time.

He called upon Father M. E. Dalley, of the Holy Redeemer parish, Dr. J. T. Valone, grand knight of Warren Council, and several members, who responded with brief remarks.

The remainder of the evening consisted of a floor show by artists from Erie and dancing.

These suppers are proving very successful and it is the intention of the knights to continue them monthly as a social feature, the next one being arranged for Sunday evening, February 15.

LOCAL TAG DAY FOR PARALYSIS FUND SUCCESS

One of the most successful tag days to be held in Warren in some years was that conducted in the business section on Saturday by the Warren Board of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc.

Mrs. Betty Jane Branch, who was chairman of the event, was ably assisted in the canvass by members of two high school sororities, Phi Zeta Chi and Omega Phi Delta, and reported today that funds raised will exceed $275.

The board has asked the Times-Mirror to express its sincere appreciation for the public's response, which was so generous that results exceeded by far any expectations of those in charge.

Completing the schedule of events planned in observance of President Roosevelt's 60th birthday anniversary, through which paralysis funds are raised, will be the public card party at the Philomathean Club on Friday night of this week and the duplicate tournament the same night at the Marconi Club.

NO EXAMINATION NECESSARY FOR HOSPITAL PLAN

In response to numerous inquiries regarding the hospital-sponsored hospitalization plan in operation in Warren County the Hospital Service Association announces that no physical examination is necessary either by the employed subscriber or by the members of the family.

The hospitals simply require that those enrolling shall be employed and come into the project in a group formed at the place of employment. All such employed subscribers have the opportunity to bring in the spouse, husband or wife, together with the dependent children under the age of 19.

While the movement represents direct action by the participating hospitals themselves the plan operates under the supervision of the Commonwealth Department of Insurance. The hospitals' sole purpose is to widen the scope of hospital treatment.

D. 2, on Route 219, about one mile southeast of Kane. Thrush received a head cut and was badly bruised about the legs, but did not require hospitalization. Mrs. Eberl was taken to the Kane Summit Hospital, where her condition was reported fair.

NO HAZING

Superintendent of Schools Vaughn R. DeLong, of Oil City, has informed Oil City High School students that hazing will not be tolerated there. Complaints were made that as part of a hazing process, a number of seniors and juniors were taken for rides and left at rural points eight to 12 miles from Oil City, obliging them to get back home as best they could. School officials said that if the practice were continued, class functions and social privileges would be abandoned.

Special taxes on motor buses in 1940 averaged $704 per vehicle.

MANY IN COUNTY RECEIVE SOCIAL SECURITY FUNDS

Emphasizing that two types of widows' monthly benefits are being paid, Bernard A. Farabaugh, manager of the Social Security Board's office in Erie, announced today that 226 men, women and children in Warren county were receiving monthly payments amounting to $4,115.00 under the federal old-age and survivors insurance program at the beginning of 1942. The figures reflect substantially the growth of the Federal family insurance payments during the first two years in which they were paid on a monthly basis, Mr. Farabaugh said, but do not include beneficiaries who drew payments for some time and subsequently were removed from the rolls. Principal removal causes were death, earnings in covered employment, and attainment of age 18 by dependent children. Beneficiaries and payments were divided as follows: to 121 retired workers, $2,705.00; to 50 wives (at age 65) of retired workers, $600.00; 13 widows, regardless of age, with dependent children, $253.00; 6 widows, at age 65, $115.00; 36 dependent children, under age 18, $440.00. In Pennsylvania, 45,288 persons now receive $835,089 per month under the old-age and survivors insurance program. 27,531 of these beneficiaries are retired workers and their wives, and 17,757 are survivors of deceased wage earners, including widows, children and dependent parents. "The basis of eligibility for these payments in each case," Mr. Farabaugh said, "is the wages of the retired or deceased employee paid for employment covered by the social security laws." Mr. Farabaugh pointed out the importance of the wage record in connection with eligibility for benefit payments under the social security program. "It is extremely important," he said, "that every employee realize his responsibility in seeing that he receive proper credit in his social security wage record for all wages paid to him in order to protect the future rights of himself or his survivors to the benefits provided in the law." A statement of the wages credited to each employee wage record may be obtained by communicating with the Social Security Board.

DO TIME FOR LOVE

Chapter 22

Long Story

ROD switched on the lights in the living room of his cottage.

Miss Dorcas looked around her. "Wonderful!" she said. "Young man, if I decide to write my memoirs, you must rent me this place."

"You're more than welcome to it, Miss Dorcas," said Rod. "I won't be using it again for a long time."

"Why not?" "That's the long story I've got to tell you," said Rod. "The story you probably came to hear. Would you like something to drink first?"

"Have you any Scotch?" "Yes, I have."

"And soda?" "Yes, Miss Dorcas," Rod smiled. "That means you want a Scotch and soda, of course."

"Young man, your powers of deduction are remarkable," said Rod. "I thank you for the drink."

"Will you fix the drinks?" "He was not gone long, and when he returned Miss Dorcas said:

"I know my niece ran away because of you, but what I don't know is why you ran away."

"I didn't run away—really," said Rod. "I only went down to Boston."

"But why go in such a mysterious sort of way?" "I went to see my doctor."

"You mean you were ill?" "Miss Dorcas, I don't exactly think that," Rod put down his glass. He leaned forward. "I was told, Miss Dorcas, that my heart was in pretty bad shape, and that I also had a very badly injured ear-drum. I was told that in later years I might become deaf."

"But—but—there's nothing wrong with your hearing now—not that I can note," said Miss Dorcas.

"I know, but I was deaf for several weeks after—Dunkirk."

"Unkind!" "Yes, Miss Dorcas. I was there."

"Oh!" Miss Dorcas caught her breath. "You poor boy!"

"I was a flyer," Rod went on, speaking quietly. "I went through all that terrific hell—and when I got back to England, I was pretty much of a wreck. Nothing that one could see, but a bad heart, and the ear condition. It looked as though I was done for—that is, so far as my being any real use to the world."

"Yes," said Miss Dorcas very softly. "Go on."

"I had no one—that is, no relatives, and I hated being a burden over there. The British had enough to do looking after their own, and so I came back here—home."

"Yes," said Miss Dorcas. She laid a hand over one of Rod's. They both had forgotten their drinks. "You came here to recuperate?"

"I came here to fight things out with myself," said Rod. "I wasn't even sure I wanted to recuperate—or then, I had the feeling that after Dunkirk—there was nothing to live for."

"And then?" "And then I met Lavinia."

"You mean you began to feel differently then?"

"MUCH differently," Rod smiled. "I began to want to live, to get well, to get back into the thick of things."

"Why didn't you tell her all you've just told me?" "I couldn't—then. I still didn't want to talk about it. And I hated to sound as though I were pleading for sympathy," Rod paused for a moment, and again picked up his drink. "And the more I saw of Lavinia, the more determined I became not to mention love—not to let myself go."

"I was certain I did have a future. Then, like a weak fool, I took her in my arms and kissed her."

"And then told her to forget it," said Miss Dorcas. "Yes, she told me about it. She had to tell someone."

"I never realized at the time," Rod continued, "how Lavinia would feel about it. I was too angry with myself for forgetting, who I was, the shape I was in. You see, Miss Dorcas, I still felt I had no right to love a girl."

"I understand," said Miss Dorcas. "And so you kissed my niece, and then ran off and left her."

"I guess it does sound like a comfortable trick, Miss Dorcas," Rod said. "But I certainly didn't mean it that way."

"Of course you didn't. But why the sudden decision to go to Boston?"

"I got a letter in the mail yesterday morning," Rod exclaimed.

"It offered me work in a factory where defense manufacturing is going on. Airplanes. And I do know a lot about them. Miss Dorcas, well, that letter, and the realization that I was in love with Lavinia, did things to me I caught a train as soon as I could, and hurried off. I wanted to get everything straightened out, if possible—so that I could come to Lavinia with a proposal."

"You said a while back that you went to your doctor."

"I did. I had a thorough going over, and I'm okay." Rod's eyes were shining. "I mean the weeks here at Harbor Head have done wonders to the heart condition—and the trouble with my ear has entirely cleared up. In other words, Miss Dorcas, I'm—I'm practically as good as new."

"Thank God," said Miss Dorcas. "I can't tell you how glad I am, Rod. You don't mind my calling you that, do you?"

"Of course not. Only I wish you'd let me call you Aunt Dorcas."

"Goodness me, boy—what else would you call me?" "You're swell, Aunt Dorcas."

"A mutual admiration society, so it would seem," said Miss Dorcas. "What's the matter?"

"You should be telling Lavinia all this—not me!" "But I can't. She's gone!"

"Oh, yet, so she has!" Rod was thoughtful for a moment. "Do you think I've understood and forgive me, if I see her again?" he asked.

"If she doesn't," said Miss Dorcas. "She's a little idiot."

"Funny thing," Rod went on, "when I got to Harbor Head I was shocked to find it had developed into a fashionable resort. I was a little angry, too—I mean, seeing people so gay, and remembering all I'd seen on the other side. I resented the people at the Inn and I avoided them with a stubborn determination."

"I was angry over the way she had been treated. I wanted everyone to see her as I saw her."

"Miss Dorcas finished her drink, and set down the glass. "You really love my niece?" she said.

"Of course I do!" said Rod. "She's the most adorable girl I've ever known."

"You love her enough to marry her?" "Of course. Why do you think I came barging into the Inn tonight?"

"Then what are you waiting for?" "W-w—what do you mean?"

"Why aren't you on the way to New York to see her?" "I am going—the first thing in the morning," said Rod. "There's no train before then."

"Do you mind my taking the same train?" Miss Dorcas said. "Mind! I'll be no end disappointed if you don't take it."

"Very well, we will go back to New York together."

"You can help me."

"How?" "By pretending to like me a lot. Maybe then Lavinia will forgive me, and say she'll marry me."

"Rod," said Miss Dorcas. "I'm a poor pretender. But I don't have to pretend I like you. I do like you."

All the way down on the train, Manhattan-bound, Miss Dorcas and Rod talked about themselves. And they enjoyed doing so. Especially Rod. Not that he did so in any egotistical sense. It wasn't that at all. It was rather as though after being shut up inside of himself for so long a time, there was great relief and comfort in talking to someone who understood.

"And you know, Aunt Dorcas," he was now saying, as he and Miss Dorcas lunched in the diner, "the boat in which I escaped from Dunkirk was almost exactly like the one I had used at Harbor Head."

"By the way," Miss Dorcas said. "What became of your boat?"

"I let a fisherman friend have it for several days," Rod replied.

Miss Dorcas laughed. "And that Margot Linden and a lot of other have been thinking the government men took it, when they took you!"

ON THE TEMPTATION TO TALK

We may not have enough planes, tanks, or ships, but there's one thing we've plenty of, ba-a-aby, and that's talk.

Shortage of tin, shortage of rubber, shortage of scrap, but a tremendous surplus of verbiage. Words, words, words!

Words are good things in their places, especially if they be the right words. We deal in words ourselves. But after all, that's our business, and we have nothing more important to do.

As much cannot be said for members of the cabinet and the chairmen of important congressional committees. They are presumed to have something much more important to do. When their words, in addition to being gratuitous are definitely harmful, one wonders whether it might not be a good time to start rationing.

Within 48 hours recently, Chairman Connally of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox sounded off in speeches and statements which caused misunderstandings and ill feeling abroad. In neither case, as far as we can see, was comment absolutely required.

If Secretary Knox will give us a victorious Navy, the country will be eternally grateful to him. It is quite enough of a job for a man's full time. General policies of grand strategy can be announced from time to time as required, by those who make them; speeches are a dime a dozen. Senator Connally will learn, perhaps is learning now, that foreign relations are not well conducted by offhand nifties whipped up to please casual interviewers.

It is not enough of a job to win a war? Can men charged with responsibility in the war effort spare time to go gadding about the country making speeches to every half-full of luncheon guests who send them a telegram? Does every passing event call for comment from any official who is asked for it? Is not the collective national supply of verbiage getting out of proportion to the amount of action?

It is true that the people need to be informed of the purposes, and as far as military necessity permits, of the plans and activities of their government. It is true that discussion and criticism are proper. But the national morale does not depend on a continual stream of talk like a boiler with a stoker underneath. Confidence in officials and in the government will be at least as great if it is known that they are working hard and silently at their jobs as it will if they are making speeches and issuing statements.

It goes right down to the most ordinary of us. The job is here to do. We know what it is and what it means. It won't be speeded up and it may be retarded by continually talking about it.

Less talk; more action. Fewer words; more bullets.

SENSIBLE SUGGESTION

"Let public men keep their hats on outdoors at ceremonial occasions during bad weather," warns Dr. Leonard Keene Hirschberg, Director of the Institute for Scientific Research of the Hospital Age publications, in a statement drawing attention to the many prominent men who have died because of colds, caught while standing outdoors bareheaded at various ceremonial functions.

"It is particularly urgent at this time that our executives keep themselves fit for constant service and avoid risks to health," Dr. Hirschberg said. "One of the most certain ways to catch cold and develop serious illness is to go outdoors bareheaded.

"George Washington, Ambassador Herrick, Admiral Beatty, England's sea hero of the last war, and King George V, are among many famous men whose deaths were directly traceable to one ultimate cause—a common cold caught while standing bareheaded outdoors during a ceremonial occasion."

The doctor suggests that some salute which would not necessitate hatlessness, be devised for these occasions.

Those young ladies who staged the tag day for the Infantile Paralysis fund Saturday are deserving of high praise for the success they achieved in raising almost $275 for the worthy cause.

That report on the Pearl Harbor debacle made public by President Roosevelt Saturday night is far from pleasing, but it demonstrates that regardless of whether the news is good or bad we can take it.

BY PETER EDSON
Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, Jan. 26—The Office of Facts and Figures—that new branch of government which is intended to give aid and comfort to the people of the United States and to snap policies for the public relations departments in war times—announced originally it would issue no publicity handouts, no sugar-coated, soothing syrup propaganda. That was last October.

It comes as somewhat of a shock, therefore, to find that OFF's first public act is to issue a handout—a 15,000-word handout, a pocket-size pamphlet of 60 pages called "Report to the Nation" which is double-dipped in saccharine and represents the state of the country on Jan. 1, 1942, as being just dandy. And the Honorable Archibald MacLeish, poet librarian of Congress who also heads OFF of Facts and Figures, now confesses OFF will have to issue more information than he thought.

So here you have another government press agency setup, a top, super-duper, high hat press agency working amid the scholarly stacks of the Library of Congress, employing 84 people already, though not yet fully staffed and doing a questionable job. It is safe to say a majority of the working newspaper correspondents in Washington who have most of the direct dealings with these government press offices, can't understand and don't appreciate. Here is war boondoggling on a scale as yet undreamed of.

If this is an unfair opinion shot from the hip, it is only because all the activities of OFF don't meet the eye. From brown October to black mid-January is three months of chill weather in which the head should be reasonably clear even in Washington, and in that time from one to 84 people working in the Library of Congress should be able to bring forth something pretty tangible—or what. Is this much vaunted productive capacity of the Arsenal of Democracy, anyway?

If OFF has produced other stuff of a war-secrets nature which can't be revealed, okay—let it live. But if its labors to date are what meet the eye—a fancy tale of organization including divisions labeled Bureau of Intelligence, Bureau and Liaison, Bureau of Operations and Bureau of Production, plus a paper-bound tract of rehashed pap—then by all means let it go the way of the other war dodges, OPM, SPAB, NDMB, NDAC, and the like.

From its very inception, this Office of Facts and Figures has operated behind seven veils of mystery. No one understood clearly what it was to do when set up by the President. The distinguished director of OFF, shuffling between two offices and behind three secretaries, became one of the hardest men in Washington to see. And for three months the puzzle in Washington was, what is OFF for?

Full blame for OFF's first brainchild, this pamphlet "Report to the Nation," should probably not be placed on the jumbo pentameter brow of the director. President Roosevelt asked for it on Dec. 2. All right, he got it. It is his.

The pamphlet is being mailed to newspaper editors of the country, and no doubt excerpts of it will appear in various places. As a matter of fact, OFF has thoughtfully prepared a three-part, 3000-word build-down of the original text which should be handy for filler. The full text is simply a repetition. (Turn To Page Ten)

Frederick the Great Brought Prussia to Power

WHEN Adolf Hitler made Austria a province of the Third Reich in 1938, it marked an achievement Frederick the Great, Prussian emperor, never dreamed possible.

Frederick, pictured on the stamp above, issued in 1926, labored unceasingly to make Germany a great European power. He, like Hitler, brought Prussia into war. The Seven Years War (1756-1763) saw virtually the entire continent allied against Frederick's armies. Prussia was exhausted and nearly ruined by the conflict but at the end of the war was recognized as one of the great powers in Europe. Thereafter it was in a struggle for dominance should arise between Austria and Germany, with the smaller German states grouped around one or the other.

In early life Frederick had no taste for war. He acquired a taste for literature, learned French and Latin in defiance of his father, and even despised the German language. He determined to learn English principles.

His father, stern Frederick William I, dejected his sons of Frederick's leanings. He forced Frederick to break with the Princess Amelia and made the emperor-to-be work long hours over tedious tasks. Tutors drilled the military arts into Frederick, with the result that Germany soon had a strong army and Prussia became strong with war.

A WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The potential crisis in motor transportation in civilian life is giving rise to a lot of balderdash.

The idea that we are going to return really to the horse and buggy days, for example, is some of it. Naturally, with a shortage of tires, trucks and cars, some trucking and delivery companies who can adopt Old Dobbin to their needs are going to do so. The use of horses for getting about and for hauling in farm and small communities also will increase. But if that went to anything like the limits of its possibilities all over the country, the horse market would be as empty as the barn with the open door.

One government expert told me recently that it would take about ten years to breed the nation's horse population back to what it was in the buckboard era. Even if a sufficient increase could be developed in time to do any good, there still would be the problem of reviving the manufacture of carriages and harness.

Any demand for these in great quantities would necessitate virtually new industries, with a demand for new machine tools and new craftsmanship. There still would be the problem of priorities.

ANOTHER bit of fallacious reasoning is that the nation is going to take to bicycle wheels overnight. Here again, it goes without saying that in some instances where distances are short, a bicycle might help a lot. As an auxiliary vehicle for short runs, it could be made to go far towards saving the family jalopy.

But to consider the facts puts another face on it. According to the National Safety Council, there now are about 3,000,000 bicycles in the country. The production from the 12 manufacturers in the United States, averaged something over 1,000,000 a year for the last four years. (When the manufacturers met here recently with OPM officials to design the new standard "victory bike," they estimated their 1941 output at 2,000,000.)

With the "victory" bicycle, of standard design, lighter frame, smaller tires, and a maximum of only 25 pounds of steel, this production might be stepped up considerably—if the industry were given priorities on all of its needs. One report here recently had it that priorities didn't want to allot more steel to the bicycles than enough to produce 750,000.

BUT to return to the 2,000,000 a year or even twice that, it would take from five to ten years to put a bike beside every car in the land—or an average of one to every family. And of course, where one car will do for many families, one bicycle won't.

America is a land of distances. Its problems are not at all those of cycling England, where distances are relatively short. The United States has grown and its cities have been built on the prospect of continuing fast transportation.

The best that we can do is substitute horses, bicycles and shank's mares wherever possible and nurse the old gasoline buggies and their present tires along until the emergency is over.

IT is interesting to note that the National Safety Council is on its toes. Even before the prospect of increased cycling was given the stimulus of government commendation, the Council was out with a national survey of bicycle accidents, their cause and cure.

In the last year for which figures are complete, 1939, there were more than 700 deaths and 34,000 injuries reported from bicycle accidents.

Through the FBI's traffic division and its law enforcement bulletin which goes to thousands of police forces all over the country, the Council is recommending police registration of all bicycles; license plates issued annually for a 25 cent fee; examination of riders and inspection of bicycles before license plates are issued.

Will keep informed. "Think swimming soon."
Two minutes later a second message came through. It said: "Torpedoed twice. Ship still afloat, but listing badly. Captain requests assistance immediately." Then the last message crackled out: "Can not stay afloat much longer."

That was heard at 1:22 a. m. Ships and shore stations again endeavored to contact the Venore by radio, but without results. Apparently there was no delay in getting rescue operations under way.
Sea Isle City, N. J., Jan. 26.—(P)—Striking without warning, an enemy submarine sunk the Norwegian tanker Varanger in a pre-dawn attack only 33 miles off the Atlantic coast yesterday, but the crew of 42 was saved.
Three torpedoes rammed the 9,305-ton motor ship within 12 minutes in an enemy attack on shipping which was one of the war's closest to the U. S. Atlantic coast, but for the first time since the nation entered the war no lives were lost in Atlantic waters.
The explosions shook houses in several south Jersey communities, including Atlantic City, 20 miles north of here.
The survivors escaped in two lifeboats which were taken in tow by two fishing smacks that came upon the oil-drenched scene five hours after the ship went down about 3:30 a. m. (EST), 35 miles southeast of here.

Discomfort of Piles

Can often be relieved and comfort brought to the sufferer by antiseptic SAN-CURA Ointment. You have the same opportunity as many others who have been relieved of the stinging and itching. Washing the parts with SAN-CURA Soap before applying SAN-CURA Ointment is a great help. Soap 25c.

Some of the COMMON SKIN DISEASES
School teachers have requested an article on Skin Diseases, because so many children go to school with contagious diseases of the skin and infect other children.
All skin diseases are not contagious. Some are caused from systemic unbalance, such as acne, some types of eczema and warts caused by sensitiveness to protein or pollen, dermatitis caused from plants or chemicals, such as hair dye, furs, face powder and poison ivy.
Infections caused by "pus" organisms, such as erysipelas, syphilis erythematous, impetigo, ringworm, scabies (or itch) are contagious. In a recent study of 600 skin diseases of children under 12 years, the following percentages were obtained: 21% of the cases were eczema, 11% ringworm, 10% impetigo, 7% scabies, and the balance, or 50%, were systemic or non-contagious.
If you, or any member of your family, has a skin eruption, or irritation, see your doctor. Picking, scratching and squeezing are strongly advised against. Infection may be carried to other parts of the body, or spread into the deeper tissues. Your case may require a simple local treatment, it may need the X-ray, ultra-violet, radium, vaccine—or it may call for systematic treatment and special diet.

Japanese landing attempts. Even while Madang and Tulagi were being cleared of civilians, the coastal town of Wavak, northwest of Madang, was reported under Japanese aerial attack.
Reports reaching here indicated that they were holding out in a hard fighting stand in the hills south of Rabaul, at the northern end of New Britain, roughly 400 miles east of Madang.
Japanese who landed there from 11 transports were estimated to number at least 10,000, heavily outnumbering the defense forces.
War Minister and Deputy Prime Minister Francis Forde, warning that an attempt to invade the Australian mainland was imminent, announced that the militia had been hurled against Japanese landing forces on the Australian islands of New Britain and New Ireland.
The announcement, the first indication that the Japanese had won a foothold on New Ireland, coincided with a communique from Batavia disclosing that the invaders also had made new landings at the east coast, Borneo port of Balikpapan and at Kendari on the southeastern tip of Celebes island more than 400 miles to the east.

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

No. 17

EARNED INCOME CREDIT

The law allows in computing the normal tax of an individual an earned income credit of 10 per cent of the earned net income, but not in excess of 10 per cent of the net income. "Earned income" is defined in the law as wages, salaries, professional fees and other amounts received as compensation for personal services actually rendered. Where a taxpayer is engaged in a trade or business in which both personal services and capital are material income-producing factors, a reasonable allowance as compensation for personal services actually rendered by the taxpayer, not in excess of 20 per cent of his share of the net profits of such trade or business, is considered as earned income. "Earned net income" means the excess of the amount of the earned income over the sum of the net income deductions which are the ordinary and necessary expenses properly chargeable against earned income. The entire amount of the taxpayer's net income up to and including $2,000, regardless of the source, is considered net income. In no case is the earned net income to be considered to be more than $14,000.

No. 18

Exemptions Allowed Couples Married During Taxable Year

The credit for dependents as well as the personal exemption is secured to be prorated where a change of status occurs during the taxable year, except where the taxpayer is eligible and elects to compute the tax at the optional rates with the use of the simplified Form 1040A, and these credits are allowable not only for the purpose of computing the normal tax but also the surtax. The proration is to be made in accordance with the number of months the taxpayer occupied each status and fractional part of a month is to be disregarded unless it amounts to more than half a month, in which case it is considered a month.

For example, if a single man and a single woman were married on July 20, 1941, and lived together during the remainder of the year, they would be entitled to a personal exemption of $1,500 in a joint return on Form 1040 for the calendar year 1941, which amount is seven-twelfths of $750 for the husband while single, plus seven-twelfths of $750 for the wife while single, plus five-twelfths of $1,500 for the period during which they were married. If during the year 1941 the husband or the wife had the status of the head of a family prior to their marriage he or she would be entitled to his or her pro rata share of the personal exemption of $1,500 allowed the head of a family for the period prior to their marriage instead of that allowed a single person. For the period of their marriage any exemption to which either might be merged in the joint personal exemption. The joint personal exemption allowable in the case of a couple who were married and living together during the entire year may not exceed $1,500.

If a child under 18 years of age reaches the age of 18 years during the taxable year, the credit of $400 is required to be prorated in the same manner as the personal exemption. For example, if a child's eighteenth birthday should fall on June 30, the parent would be entitled to claim $200 credit for the dependent child—that is, one-half of $400. The same rule applies to other dependents where a change of status occurs during the taxable year.

If the tax is computed at the optional rates with the use of the simplified Form 1040A, the taxpayer's status on the last day of the taxable year governs the determination of whether a person is living with husband or wife, is the head of a family, or is a dependent.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It may interest you to know that a variation of charades has suddenly become important along Broadway. You see people playing it in restaurants and cafes all along the street. The idea is to suggest the titles of plays, radio shows, movies, battles, or anything topical by using whatever props are available on the dinner table. For instance, in Frankie and Johnny's last night a girl took a slice of orange out of a cocktail and placed it on a plate. Then she took off her wrist watch and placed it on the orange. That was an easy one. "Watch on the Rhine."

ANOTHER one is to kick the person next to you in the shins. That's "Best Foot Forward." Jay Sims, the deep-voiced newscaster, stuck a match in a cactus bottle, ignited it, then blew it out. That was Helen Hayes' drama, "Candle in the Wind." Just then a solitary diner came in and sat at a table next to the wall. One of the players merely pointed to him, and he at once became "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Silly? Sure. But it's fun. And like the Turkey Trot of Irving Berlin fame, everybody's doing it. LATER I was discussing with Sims the agony most news commentators and announcers must go through in figuring out pronunciation for some of those unpronounceable foreign names. "For me," he said, "mid-European and slavic names are the toughest. A twister that gave me more grief than any other was Maloyaroslavets." On the other hand, French, Spanish, Italian, Hawaiian, and Far Eastern names are easy. One reason for this is that Sims is an ex-army man, and was stationed in Hawaii.

IT'S curious the hold Lincoln's name has on foreigners. The latest book on Lincoln is by a Hungarian editor named Stefan Lorant. When he came to America, his little boy asked, "Dad, who is this Lincoln people talk about?" Lorant went to the library to look for a pictorial biography of Lincoln. He couldn't find one. Then he began to build a scrapbook for his son, and as the pictures and sketches grew the idea of a biography in pictures occurred to him. He went to work, and the result has been a collection of pictures of the Emancipator, many previously unpublished, that is being widely discussed. It was published the week before Christmas, and the first copy of the special edition was sent to President Roosevelt. The second went to the Lincoln Memorial College at Harrogate, Tenn. Subsequent copies were presented to Mary Lincoln Beckwith of Washington and Robert Lincoln Beckwith of Chevy Chase, Md., direct descendants of old Abe. They say collectors of first editions were a little put out at not being able to obtain the cherished low numbers.

Fanciers of old American musical memorabilia will kindly take note of Bill Hardy's exhibition at the Gay 90's. It includes an entire wall of autographed programs and photographs, including recital programs by Sousa, Hoffman, and Fritz Kreisler.

Sugar Grove

The directors meeting of the Hill and Dale Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. James Pelton Friday afternoon. Plans were discussed and committees arranged for the new year. Those present were Mrs. Paul Lindell and Mrs. Harry Ludwick, of Lancaster; Mrs. J. A. McIntosh, Mrs. Delmar Mickelson and Mrs. Scott Stuart. Mrs. Pelton served dainty refreshments. The club will meet January 28th at the home of Mrs. Walter Kelley.

Mrs. Agnes Abbott entertained the Bridge Club Monday evening. Four tables of bridge were played with high score going to Mrs. Arthur Cody. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. R. E. Abbott and Mrs. Conrad Youngberg in serving lunch.

Mrs. Scott Stuart, Jr., recently entertained the Young Women's Missionary Society of the Lutheran church of Chancellors Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cody, of New Wilmington, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hensler and Mrs. Grace Brownson, of Buffalo, N. Y., were

ICE MOVING OUT

But for a slight jam on the west bank of Conewago creek, near the Pennsylvania avenue bridge, the ice which was frozen completely across the creek last week, is moving out steadily, the result of the past few days of warm weather. Water is rising slowly, though unless a rain or hard snow storm is in the offing, it is not expected to become dangerous.

ACCIDENTS SCARE

Accidents of both minor and serious nature on county highways have been conspicuous in their absence during the past two weeks. Not a single accident had been reported to the local barracks of the Pennsylvania Motor Police since January 14, until early this morning when a mishap of a minor nature was reported to have occurred just east of the Glade bridge. Ordinarily January accidents are among the highest of the year because of hazardous mid-winter driving conditions.

Dr. Eduardo Anze Martinez, Bolivian foreign minister, declared today that his government already had drawn up a decree severing relations with the Axis, which would make Bolivia the seventeenth American nation to break with Germany, Italy and Japan.

He said he would notify his foreign ministers and delegates to the conference at the sessions today while the last problems of the inter-American defense board are being ironed out.

The growing list of American republics which have broken off relations with the Axis, swelled by the actions of Uruguay, Paraguay and Peru, was hailed by the conference.

In Lima, Peruvian authorities took what were called "severe measures against Axis propagandists" and heightened their control of radio stations.

The commission's report related that Knox's letter was forwarded to Kimmel and Short with orders to make preparations quickly. Additional messages emphasizing the peril of the Japanese situation, it continued, were sent to Kimmel and Short on October 16, November 24, November 27, December 3, December 4 and December 6.

The report said the army was supposed to set up an aircraft warning system and by December 7 had mobile equipment in place at temporary locations. The equipment was operated, however, only from 4 to 7 a. m. each day.

Loss Inflicted On Enemy Is Heaviest Since War's Start

on a cruiser, and Dutch planes co-operating in the same action scored a total of four direct hits on two Japanese cruisers and another transport. Allied headquarters said.

Independently, the Dutch communiqué reported that a Netherlands submarine, in addition to sinking a Japanese destroyer, scored a torpedo hit on a cruiser.

The American and Dutch forces previously had executed a tremendous toll of the enemy in the narrow straits where a huge Japanese expeditionary force apparently was ambushed and trapped between the Dutch Islands of Borneo and Celebes.

Americans cheered another brilliant action in the western Pacific officially called the "smashing success" of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's soldiers in a counter attack upon the Japanese.

His soldiers yesterday hit the unprepared Japanese on his extreme right while they were concentrating on developing an attack on MacArthur's other flank and drove the Japanese from their positions in disorder.

The war department said the Japanese left hundreds of dead and large quantities of supplies and equipment on the battlefield.

In the Malayan battle for Singapore, the Japanese pounded steadily with the help of swarms of bombers, and the invaders had captured Batu Pahat, the western anchor of the British defense line, 60 miles northwest of Singapore.

Fighting also was heavy near Kluang, 50 miles north of Singapore, where the Japanese are attempting to move down the main railroad to Singapore.

The British made no attempt to minimize the seriousness of the situation along the 80-90 mile front but declared that there were "some nasty surprises" in store for the Japanese.

Trouble for the Japanese appeared in the making in southern China and Burma.

Masses of Chinese troops were reported gathering along the Yunnan border and in Burma in positions which would put them in line for an attack on French Indo-China and Thailand, both occupied by the Japanese.

Armen of the United Nations dumped tons of explosives on Japanese bases at Bangkok, Thailand, and Hanoi, Indo-China, during the weekend.

The British, meanwhile, fell back in the Moulmein sector, 100 miles east of Rangoon, before the "sheer weight of numbers" of the Japanese.

Domel, Japanese news agency, reported in a dispatch from Bangkok that Thailand declared war on Great Britain and the United States yesterday and had ordered 100,000 Thai troops to advance into Burma.

The dispatch made no mention of the fact that Thai troops already have been in action with the Japanese.

and turned his attention to another pressing problem presented by a Democratic attack on a provision of a pending war powers bill which would excuse dollar-a-year men and others serving without compensation from the operations of the Hatch anti-politics act.

Senator Truman (D-Mo.), chairman of the defense investigating committee which had been particularly critical of the activities of dollar a year men, was in the thick of the fight against inclusion of this provision in the administration's measure.

PRESBYTERIAN S TO ENJOY SHOW THURSDAY NIGHT

More than 300 persons are expected at the All-Presbyterian Church night to be held Thursday of this week. Entertainment will be provided by the Married Couples Club with a minstrel show scheduled as the principal attraction of the evening. This will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

Final rehearsals show the cast to be well qualified in the art of minstrelsy, and that there will be no lack of vocal entertainment is proved by the following list of men who comprise the group. They are: Everett Eddy, William Lutz, (soprano); Leon Jones, Roy Kerr, Nathaniel Drake, Peter Linder, Norman Johnson and Tel Eppley. John H. Stewart, who will act as interlocutor, Walter Irwin, Chester Randall, Vinton Finzer, E. Preston Hoskins and Robert Mackay and Chris Pegke, the other two end men. Harry Summers will provide the piano accompaniment. The production was written and coached by Brackett Ayers.

The minstrel show will be held in the Sunday school rooms where ample seating accommodations have been provided for more than 300. Stage arrangements lighting and scenic effects will be in charge of Robert Cogswell. Early arrivals will naturally secure the best seats though there will be room aplenty for all members of the congregation and their friends.

Following the minstrel show the entire group will be taken into the dining rooms, which will be fitted out to resemble an old Mississippi river show boat. The boat has been named "Anniversary" in honor of the 120th anniversary of the local church. The boat will be commanded by Captain Donald E. McComas, who will have charge of introducing many of the famous entertainers who will make the cruise this Thursday evening.

Refreshments will be served along the way by a group of charming "southern belles," under the guidance of Mrs. Ralph Sides. Among the group are: Mrs. Telford Eppley, Mrs. Walter Sigworth, Mrs. Everett H. Eddy, Mrs. Brackett Ayers, Mrs. Vance Weld, Mrs. A. F. Dunham, Mrs. Robert Cogswell, Mrs. Perry McDannel, Mrs. Louis Sherwood and Mrs. Roy Kerr. These ladies will dispense hospitality to all aboard and in the approved southern manner.

The Married Couples Group of the Presbyterian church is in complete charge of the program and all entertainment. All expenses are being born by the Session of the church and there will be no collections, cover charges or fares collected on the voyage.

All members of the congregation are urged to keep this Thursday evening open for this novel entertainment and to enjoy the cruise. They are asked to invite their friends and neighbors to share with them this evening of good fellowship and to enjoy the joy the program which has been

A Tribute to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kitchen Fifty-four Years Together

A certain young couple in Warren, Pa. Decided to wed. 'Twas a cold winter's day, The year, eighteen hundred and eighty-eight more, When they drove, happily, from the Thomas' door.

The years added joys to the ones gone before, And memories, fondly to cherish and store; Although there were troubles, a certain amount, The blessings outnumbered, so they didn't count.

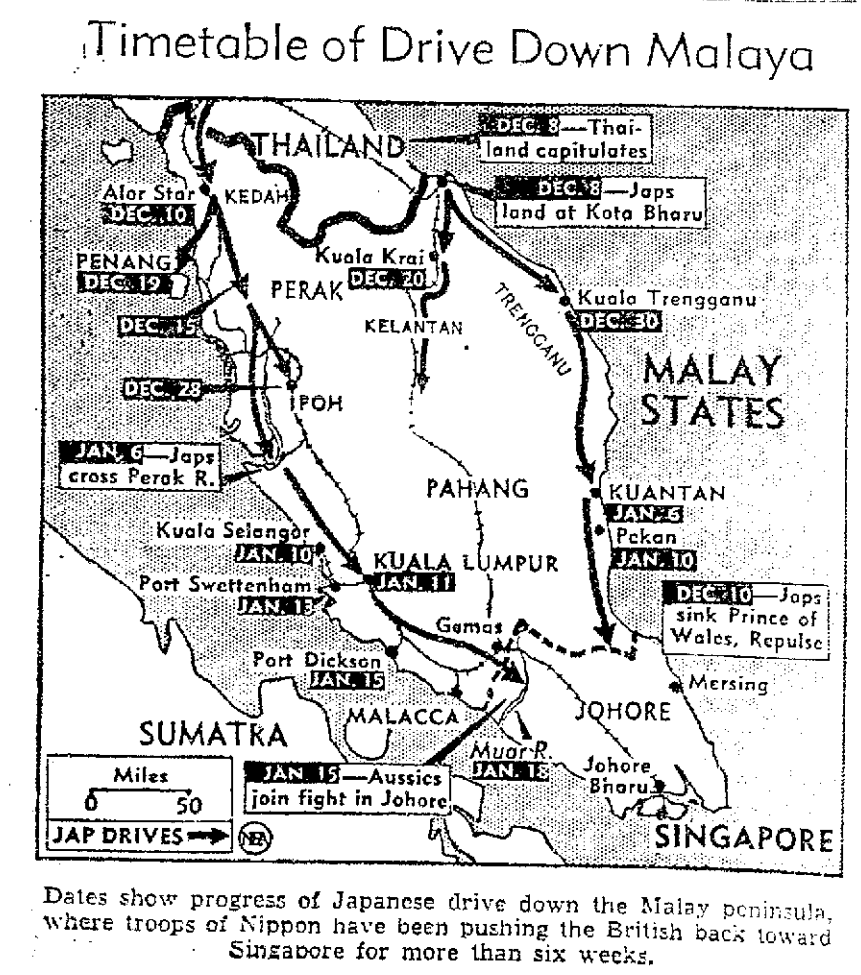

From east of the creek they did move to East Street; Where always their friends they are happy to greet. The church was their joy, noble service they gave, 'Twas never too cold but the weather they'd brave.

To be in their places, for worship and song; Devotion they've taught us, their faith is so strong. Life-time Elder is he, and he's mighty in prayer, Their lives are a witness, they always were there!

No nap Sunday morning kept them from their classes, So faithful were they to their Sunday-School "lasses". Their lives are a blessing to one and to all, Could they help you, no effort too great nor too small!

Today we all love them, the Kitchens, our friends, And down on their heads all rich blessing descends; Our church seems quite empty, their presence we miss, If only the world held more people like this!

They celebrate now, after fifty-four years, No regrets for the past, no fears for the future no fears. We wish you the best of all good things today, God keep you and guard you the rest of the way.

DEFENSE STAMP SALES MADE MY WESTERN UNION

The Treasury Department in Washington has announced that Defense Savings Stamps have been placed on sale in 5,000 Western Union Telegraph offices throughout the nation.

A. N. Williams, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, informed Secretary Morgenthau that in making stamps available in all its offices, the company desired "to encourage the widest possible participation in our nation's war effort."

Mr. Williams also announced that Western Union has made available a voluntary payroll savings plan to enable its 55,000 employees to purchase Defense Savings Bonds.

In a telegram acknowledging these undertakings, Secretary Morgenthau said the additional outlets for stamp sales "will be a major contribution to the defense saving effort."

WARREN PILOTS URGED TO GET REINSTATEMENT

Local airplane pilots whose licenses have not been reinstated by the Civil Aeronautics Authority will have an opportunity to attend to this important matter next Friday when a C. A. A. inspector from Pittsburgh will be at Oil City from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., according to word received here today.

V. S. King, manager of the Warren Airport, said that there are several pilots here who have not received their new identification cards, inasmuch as it is not known whether an inspector will visit Warren again for the purpose of reinstating pilots. Mr. King urged that this matter be taken care of at Oil City on Friday.

Lieut. Scott Dickinson and Lieut. Taylor, of the Army Ordnance Department, flew here from Pittsburgh Sunday. Lieut. Dickinson learned to fly at the Warren Airport while engaged in inspection work at the National Forge and Ordnance Company plant some time ago.

Dr. Hugh O'Hara, of Corry, has his airplane hanged at the Warren Airport since the closing of the Corry field.

Local students in the Civilian Pilot Training class are starting their cross-country training. Arthur Johnson had his first dual cross-country flight Sunday and Harold Beach was ready for his initial trip today, but foggy weather prevented the flight. Both of these students are expected to finish their courses this week.

All but two in the C. P. T. flight class have soloed and are progressing very well, according to Manager King. The new ground school, under the leadership of Marshall Mathis, also is going along in good shape, it was reported.

tion of the pretty facts and great expectations you have read in your newspapers for the last 18 months or more. None of the ugly facts appears. You will search these 60-odd pages in vain for any mention of the waste and inefficiency disclosed by the Senate committee investigating national defense or the House Naval Affairs Committee looking into excessive profits.

One average second string rewrite man on any newspaper, working with nothing more than mangled clippings, could have produced the equal of this "Report to the Nation" in less than a 40-hour, non-overtime week. Yet the Office of Facts and Figures, employing some of the supposedly best editorial brains of the country and with the full resources of the Budget Bureau to call upon, takes six weeks for this one job alone. The cost of production in man-hours and dollars is undoubtedly tremendous, and the result is a B-minus term paper for a sophomore course in contemporary history.

The booklet will have its uses. Patriotic spellbinders will find it a convenient source of trite facts, figures and phrases, including the one which says that 132 million Americans now face the gravest crisis in their history.

To give the opus full credit, there is one phrase in the text which will probably do down in history. It is, "The sun never sets on the men and materials of the Lease-Lend Act." The British should love this new name for their empire.
